

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1400 on Sunday 10 Oct 2021

UK Outlook for Friday 15 Oct 2021 to Sunday 24 Oct 2021:

Dry conditions across much of England and Wales through the start of the period with sunny spells developing after clearance of early mist/fog patches through the morning. Cloudy and windy in the north with a risk of coastal gales along with a spell of rain. Temperatures near average through the start of this period. High pressure and mostly dry conditions are likely gradually become less dominant early in this period with further spells of rain and stronger winds arriving across the northwest. These more unsettled conditions likely to become established more widely towards the latter part of this period. Temperatures likely remaining around or a little above average with night frosts possible in clearer interludes throughout.
